Dad and Me in the Morning

1994-01-01

Early one morning a young boy wakes to the light of his alarm clock. He puts on his hearing aids and clothes, then goes to wake his father together. They brave the cold as they walk down the dirt road that leads to the beach. Lakin’s understated story reminds readers that sometimes the best way to communicate doesn’t involve words. While Steele’s watercolor illustrations show that beauty is never far away.

England 1337 Edward III is beset on all sides. He needs a victory against the French to rescue his throne but he is outmanned. King Philip VI can put 50,000 men in the field but he is having his own problems. He has sent his priests to summon the angels themselves to fight for France but the angels refuse to fight and Philip won't engage the battle without the backing of the angels. As England and France head toward certain war, Edward yearns for God's favor but as a usurper can't help but worry what if God truly is on the side of the French? Edward could call on Lucifer and open the gates of hell and take an unholy war to France for a price. Mark Adler breathes fresh and imaginative life into the hundred years war in this sweeping historical epic.

The writer of such influential songs as Pancho and Lefty to live is to fly if I needed you and for the sake of the song Townes Van Zandt exerted an influence on at least two generations of Texas musicians that belies his relatively brief deeply troubled life. Indeed, Van Zandt has influenced millions worldwide in the years since his death and his impact is growing rapidly. Respected singer-songwriter John Gorka speaks for many when he says Pancho and Lefty changed it. Unchained my idea of what a song could be in this tightly woven, intelligently written book, Brian T. Atkinson interviews both well-known musicians and up-and-coming artists to reveal in the performers' own words how their creative careers have been shaped by the life and work of Townes Van Zandt. Kris Kristofferson, Guy Clark, Billy Joe Shaver, Rodney Crowell, Lucinda Williams, and Lyle Lovett are just a few of the established musicians who share their impressions of the breathtakingly beautiful tunes and lyrics he created along with their humorous, poignant, painful and indelible memories of witnessing Van Zandt's rise and fall. Atkinson balances the reminiscences of seasoned veterans with the observations of relative newcomers to the international music scene such as Jim James, My Morning Jacket, Josh Ritter, and Scott Avett. The Avett Brothers presenting a nuanced view of Van Zandt's singular body of work. His reckless lifestyle and his long lasting influence. Forewords by Cowboy Jack Clement and longtime Van Zandt manager and friend Harold F. Eggers Jr. open the book and each chapter begins with an introduction in which Atkinson provides context and background linking each interviewee to Van Zandt's legacy. Historians, students, and fans of all music from country and folk to rock and Grunge will find new insights and recall familiar pleasures as they read I'll Be Here in the Morning: The Songwriting Legacy of Townes Van Zandt.

I don't like killing but I'm good at it. Murder isn't so bad from a distance. Just shapes popping up in my scope. Close up work though. A garrotte around a neck. target's neck or a knife in their heart it's not for me too much empathy that's my problem usually but not today today is different the year is 1955 and something is very wrong with the world it is fourteen years since churchill died and the second world war ended in occupied europe britain fights a cold war against a nuclear armed nazi germany in berlin the gestapo is on the trail of a beautiful young resistance fighter and the head of the ss is plotting to dispose of an ailing adolf hitler and restart the war against britain and her empire meanwhile in a secret bunker hidden deep beneath the german countryside scientists are experimenting with a force far beyond their understanding into this arena steps a nameless british assassin on the run from a sinister cabal within his own government and planning a private war against the nazis and now the fate of the world rests on a single kill in the morning

Legendary leadership and elite performance expert Robin Sharma introduced the 5am Club concept over twenty years ago based on a revolutionary morning routine that has helped his clients maximize their productivity, activate their best health and bulletproof their serenity in this age of overwhelming complexity. Now in this life-changing book handcrafted by the author over a rigorous four year period you will discover the early rising habit that has helped so many accomplish epic results while upgrading their happiness, helpfulness, and feelings of aliveness through an enchanting and often amusing story about two struggling strangers who meet an eccentric tycoon who becomes their secret mentor. The 5am Club will walk you through how great geniuses, business titans, and the world’s wisest people start their mornings to produce astonishing achievements. A little-known formula you can use instantly to wake up early, feeling inspired, focused, and flooded with a fiery drive to get the most out of each day. A step-by-step method to protect the quietest hours of daybreak so you have time for exercise, self-renewal, and personal growth. A neuroscience-based practice proven to help make it easy to rise while most people are sleeping. Giving you precious time for yourself to think, express your creativity, and begin the day peacefully. Instead of being rushed, insider-only tactics to defend your gifts, talents, and dreams against digital distraction and trivial diversions so you enjoy fortune, influence, and a magnificent impact on the world. Part manifesto for mastery, part playbook for genius productivity, and part companion for a life lived beautifully. The 5am Club is a work that will transform your life forever.

The award-winning author of Shadow Child embarks on a simple journey to record history that changes her life as a wife and mother in June 2001. Rahna Reiko Rizzuto went to Hiroshima, Japan in search of a deeper understanding of her war-torn heritage. She planned to spend six months there interviewing the few remaining survivors of the atomic bomb, a mother of two young boys. She was encouraged to go by her husband who quickly became disenchanted by her absence. It is her first solo life adventure immediately exhilarating for her, but her research starts off badly. Interviews with the hibakusha feel rehearsed and the survivors reveal little beyond published accounts. Then the attacks on September 11 change everything. The survivors’ carefully constructed memories are shattered, causing them to relive their agonizing experiences and to open up to Rizzuto in astonishing ways. Separated from family and country while the world seems to fall apart, Rizzuto’s marriage begins to crumble as she wrestles with her ambivalence about being a wife and mother. Woven into the story of her own awakening are the stories of Hiroshima in the survivors’ own words. The parallel narratives explore the role of memory in our lives and show how memory is not history but a story we tell ourselves to explain who we are.

when katie roiphe arrived at harvard in the fall of 1986 she found that the feminism she had been raised to believe in had been radically transformed the women’s movement which had once signaled such strength and courage now seemed lodged in a foundation of weakness and fear at harvard and later as a graduate student at princeton roiphe saw a thoroughly new phenomenon taking shape on campus the emergence of a culture captivated by victimization and of a new bedroom politics in the university cloaked in outdated assumptions about the way men and women experience sex men were the silencers and women the silenced and if anyone thought differently no one was saying so twenty four year old katie roiphe is the first of her generation to speak out publicly against the intolerant turn the women’s movement has taken and in the morning after she casts a critical eye on what she calls the mating rituals of a rape sensitive community from take back the night marches which roiphe terms march as therapy and rhapsodies of self affirmation to rape crisis feminists and the growing campus concern with sexual harassment roiphe shows us a generation of women whose values are strikingly similar to those their mothers and grandmothers fought so hard to escape from a generation yearning for regulation fearful of its sexuality and animated by a nostalgia for days of greater social control at once a fierce excoriation of establishment feminism and a passionate call to our best instincts the morning after sounds a necessary alarm and entreats women of all ages to take stock of where they came from and where they want to go
